

These articles are from Practicing Ruby's third volume, which ran from 2012-01-03 to 2012-03-13. The manuscripts in this folder correspond to the following articles on practicingruby.com:

- Issue 3.1: The qualities of great software (2012.01.03)
- Issue 3.2: Patterns for building excellent examples (2012.01.10)
- Issue 3.3: Exploring the depths of a Turing tarpit (2012.01.17)
- Issue 3.4: Building a better Turing tarpit (2012.01.25)
- Issue 3.5: Framework design and implementation, Part 1 (2012.02.02)
- Issue 3.6: Framework design and implementation, Part 2 (2012.02.08)
- Issue 3.7: Criteria for disciplined inheritance, Part 1 (2012.02.15)
- Issue 3.8: Criteria for disciplined inheritance, Part 2 (2012.02.21)
- Issue 3.9: Using games to practice domain modeling (2012.02.28)
- Issue 3.10: Lessons learned from coding in the danger zone (2012.03.13)

If you enjoy what you read here, please subscribe to Practicing Ruby. These articles would not exist without the support of our paid subscribers.